

KS1 Chocolate

Art / D.T.

Design a chocolate bar wrapper! Be inspired by bars you know. Why do you like the wrapper? Why does it stand out? Does it look tempting? Then design your own wrapper. Maybe to match your own chocolate creation!

ICT

If you can access Purple Mash from the school website. Draw your favourite chocolate bar, on 2Paint.

History / Geography

Find out about where chocolate comes from. You can research this for yourself or use this link.

You could look on a map or in an atlas to locate the regions.

R.E.

Many of us like to celebrate Easter with a chocolate egg. Food links to many events and rituals in the Christian calendar. Can you remember which ones? Look at some of the links and/or chat at home about why these events link to food. What other religions feature food as an important part of their calendar. Lent Shrove

P.E.

Can you make up a game (like the beans or traffic lights game we play at school) about chocolate? E.g. Crunchie could be stamping your feet, Double Decker could be sit down and fold your arms over your legs. How could you create bubbles for Aero? Crème egg? Get your family to play too.

Maths

Sell pretend chocolates to family at home. Decide how much you will charge and count out the coins. Do you need to give any change?

Money challenge! A chocolate bar costs £1. How many different ways can you make £1 using coins? Record your answer.

Take coin rubbings to make your own play money.

Science

Investigate the different states of chocolate, powder, solid, liquid. How does it change from liquid to solid, or powder to liquid? If you have any real chocolate and/or even chocolate powder, you could try out your predictions. Make sure you do this with an adult though.

There are a lot's more exciting investigations at Let's Go Live on You Tube, with CBeebies presenters.

Music

Can you make up a song about chocolate?! Maybe along the lines of "A Pizza Hut" song. Or any song you like.

You could make up new actions too and record it or perform it to your family

English

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory is a fantastic story by Roald Dahl - maybe you can watch it on TV or read the book if you have it? This link gives a good introduction to the story and characters.

Imagine you were a chocolate inventor! What different types of sweets and chocolates would you create? Write a description of your creations. Can you invent five new items? Don't forget to give them a name too!
